CONVENTION CALLED.

Republicans to Choose Standard Bearers at Early Date.

Campaign Committee Composed of County's Best Republicans Chosen.

The Republican County Executive Committee met here last Saturday pursuant to regular call. The meeting was well attended, there being only a few members absent and quite a good deal of interest was manifested in the matters discussed and the business transacted. Among the most important matter that the committee considered was the calling of a convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various county offices to be elected next fall. The question as to time and manner of selecting the candidate was discussed at some length by several of the members of the committee. It was finally decided by a unanimous vote of the committee that precinct conventions be held in the various precincts of the county Saturday November 26, at which time delegates will be selected to meet at Hartford Monday November 28 for the purpose of naming the candidates.

A campaign committee composed of seven of the county's best Republicans was unanimously chosen by the committee, they are: T. H. Black, Chairman; John G. Keown, Secretary; J. D. Taylor, Dr. G. F. Chapman, U. G. Ragland, John Blair and Ike C. adair.

The various attractions at the Ohio County Fair this year, besides the big Premium List, are intended to make it the very best fair ever held here.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Stringent rules were adopted by the Kentucky State Board of Health Wednesday requiring all physicians coming from other States to take an examination before practicing in Kentucky; limiting medical colleges to cities of 50,000 population or over; prohibiting any medical college from having more than one school term a year, and requiring all students who intend to enter medical college to take a preliminary examination.

After a five hours' public session at the Galt House, Louisville, Monday afternoon, the Republican State Central Committee met in executive session that night and declared that the certificate of nomination issued to Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter as nominee for Congress from the Eleventh District was not given by a quorum of the District Committee and that the result of the primary election of August 9 has not yet been determined.

St. Louis Exposition attendance was broken Tuesday, when 207,454 persons passed through the pay gates.

Call for Convention.

At a regular meeting of the Republican Executive Committee of Ohio county, held at Hartford, Ky., Saturday, September 3, 1904, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That a delegated convention be held in the town of Hartford, Ky., on Monday, November 28, 1904, at 1 o'clock p. m. at the court house in said town for purpose of nominating candidates for the various county officers to be voted for at the November election, 1904, viz: Representative, county judge, county court clerk, county attorney, sheriff, jailer, superintendent of schools, coroner, surveyor and assessor, and that precinct conventions be held in each of the voting precincts in said county on November 26, 1904, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing delegates to attend said county convention on November 28 and that the representation therein be 1 delegate for every 25 votes or fraction over 12 votes cast for President Roosevelt on November 8, 1904, and the candidate receiving a majority of the votes cast in said county convention shall be declared the nominee of the Republican party for said office.

WOMAN TO PILOT BOAT.

MISS Kennedy Files Application at Evansville to Operate in Green River.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 6.—The first woman to make application for a license as master and pilot of a steamboat before the local steamboat inspectors is Miss Vera Mae Kennedy, daughter of Capt. F. L. Kennedy, owner of the towboats City of Idaho and Lotus. These boats are engaged in the tie business between this city and Green river. Capt. Kennedy is on the Lotus, while his daughter is on the City of Idaho. Miss Kennedy is a beautiful girl and has just passed her twenty-first birthday. She has had four years' continuous service on Western waters and is thoroughly acquainted with the upper Mississippi river, Black, White and Arkansas rivers. The Lotus is registered at Rock Island and the Idaho at Memphis, but they will be transferred to Evansville. The family of Capt. Kennedy reside at Bowling Green, Ky.

Over $2,000 will be given away in Premiums at the Ohio County Fair this year. See a catalogue.

DEATH PENALTY APPLAUSED.

Cheers go up When Sentence is Read by the Clerk.

Prisoner Sits Unconcerned When he Learns He Must Die For Murder of Coomes.

For the second time in four days and the fourth time in the history of Daviess county the death penalty was returned by a jury in Daviess Circuit court last Saturday morning. For a crime so atrocious that nothing in the history of Daviess county approached it, Roy Green will hang on the gallows. He was found guilty of the murder of James Coomes of Slaughterhouse at 8:30 Saturday morning by the jury and given the extreme penalty.

Green's trial was commenced on Wednesday morning following close on the heels of the death verdict for Robert Mathley given on that day. The jury did not consider the case until 8:15 o'clock Saturday morning. One ballot was taken in the jury room. And after twenty-five minutes deliberation the verdict was brought in the court room.

During this trying ordeal Roy Green sat unmoved, but with a look on his face of anxiety as to what the clerk would read from the slip of paper in his hand.

When the verdict inflicting the death penalty was read Roy was leaning slightly forward in his chair. He never changed expression, but slowly leaned back in his chair.

As soon as the verdict was announced, the 500 or 600 people in the court-room rose and cheered and waved hats as if they had been in attendance at a political jollification.

On Monday, August 1, Geo. White and Joe Chamberlain discovered the body of an unknown white man in an eating stand at the fair grounds. The body was that of a young man of fine physique, apparently not over 35 years of age. It was in a state of mutilation almost beyond human conception.

A huge splinter, nearly three feet long, had been driven through his throat and into the ground several inches and the end of it, in which was a nail, pushed over to the side of the wall and forced into a crack. His skull had been crushed and his face mashed and beaten into a pulp, his broad chest almost blue from blows. The body was moved to an undertaker's establishment and was not identified as that of James Coomes, of Webster county, until the following day.

It is for the murder of this man that Roy Green must suffer the severest penalty known to the law.

The Ohio County Fair will be the biggest Fair of all Fairs this year.

ROCKPORT.

Sept. 7.—Mrs. Wm. Coleman living in the Hopewell neighborhood but who has been visiting a daughter in Daviess county, died at that place last Thursday. Her remains were brought here Friday and taken to Hopewell where they were interred in the Hopewell cemetery.

The new lodge hall and opera house at McHenry is nearing completion and when it is finished it will be the largest and handsomest building in McHenry. The opera which is on the lower floor will be the most up-to date playhouse in Ohio county.

Rev. W. D. Cox, who recently closed his revival meeting here, is now holding a revival meeting at Williams Mines and is having splendid results. Several from Rockport were in attendance Sunday and several during the week. Rev. Cox has received a call from above Hartford and will probably hold a revival there.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Morgan, of Greenville, are the guests of Mrs. Morgan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Waddle and son, Master Percy Thomas, have returned from a visit to Rumsy and other points.

Miss Ada Hendric has returned from Louisville.

Mrs. D. G. Young, of Beaver Dam, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Hines here this week.

Mrs. G. E. Bartlett has returned from a visit to Hickman.

Mrs. A. E. Kevil, of Russellville, was the guest of relatives here this week.

Mrs. Kate Robertson, of Franklin, is the guest of relatives here.

Several from here are in Greenville this week at the pains fireworks exhibition.

The Premium list of the Ohio County Fair has been doubled this year. This means something.

BUFORD.

September 7.—Mr. S. J. Hussey is out on his crutches. He is getting along nicely and will soon be able to work again.

The debating society was quite a success Saturday night.

A large crowd from here attended the association at Bell's Run last week.

Mr. Herbert Cox, son of Mrs. Fanie Cox, of this place, died at Curdsville Saturday, August 27 and was buried here Sunday. Funeral services conducted by Bro. Burnett which was a fine discourse. Herbert had friends wherever he was known. He leaves a wife, mother, three brothers and a sister to mourn his loss.

Miss Eugene Howard returned home last Thursday, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Abbie Blair.

Mr. Wilbur Stevens, of Livermore, visited Mr. John Blair and family August 27-28.

Rev. Frank Newton, of Livermore, is visiting relatives here.

CLERK BOARD OF HEALTH

Of Jacksonville, Fla., Endorses Pe-ru-na.

C. D. Taylor, Clerk of the City Board of Health of Jacksonville, Fla., has occupied that position for the last ten years. In a recent letter to the Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., he expresses his approval of their famous catarrh remedy Peruna in the following words:

"The health of the poor of a large city is always a question of vital interest not only to the city officials but to every citizen. It has been a source of much satisfaction to me to find that so large a number of working people in moderate circumstances have accepted Peruna as their family medicine. It has cured a large number of cases especially of catarrh of the head, lungs and stomach and building up the general health it cannot fail but prove a help and blessing to any community where it is generally adopted and used. I have found it an honest reliable remedy and am pleased to endorse it."—C. D. Taylor, Clerk, Board of Health.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

STRIKING PASSAGES

From Tom Watson's Speech Accepting the Populist Nomination for President.

Tom Watson, who was a candidate for the Vice Presidency in 1896 with W. J. Bryan, in his speech accepting the Populist nomination, says:

"I have no words of abuse for Theodore Roosevelt. I believe him to be a brave, honest conscientious man. I give him full credit for having a splendid courage of conviction.

"How is it with the Democratic party? Our political history has never seen a situation so ludicrous as that which the national Democracy now holds. I can understand how the citizen can work for the Republican party and vote its ticket with enthusiastic zeal. If the Republican party represents his ideals of Government, then he is lastly proud of it, can justly confide in it, for it has stood by its principles through storm as well as sunshine, and no matter how bad you and I may think its creed is, we are bound to admit that the Republican party has a creed, is willing to fight for it, is willing to cling to it in defeat and continue to struggle for it until victory comes again. But why any human being should in the year 1904, vote the national Democratic ticket is something that passes my untutored comprehension.

"I can understand why the citizen could vote a local Democratic ticket; I can understand how in some cities and in some States that party may be struggling to do some distinct thing which he believes ought to be done; but in the name of common sense tell me why any sane and sober citizen should in this campaign vote the national Democratic ticket.

"What principle of Democracy does it stand for? What does it propose to do for the people different from what the Republicans are doing? To what point is it directing its line of march except to the Republican camp? Surrounded by the Wall Street magnates who had financed his campaign for two years, Judge Parker bided his time till the perils of the two-thirds rule were passed; and when it was too late for the convention to retrace its steps—for even the Democratic bosses require more than fifteen minutes to turn completely round—he cracks the Wall street whip over the heads of his leaders, and with prompt obedience the great Democratic legions were made to furl their flags and reverse their line of march.

"The mass of the Democratic party feel outraged at the way in which their leaders have sold them to Wall Street. I do not believe that the six and a half million men who followed Bryan, with cheers on their lips and warm convictions in their hearts, can now be delivered like cattle to the Clevelandites who knifed the ticket and bolted it in 1896. I believe that the great majority of men who voted for Bryan are men of conviction; I cannot hope they will realize that I am fighting their battles now.

"I call upon the six and a half million voters whose political faith was crystallized in the Chicago platform of 1896 and of the Kansas City platform of 1900, and I ask, What is there in the Democratic platform of 1904 that bids YOU hope? What is there for YOU in the platform? What do YOU get out of it? To what extent does Parker represent YOU? What is it that he proposes to do for YOU? If you believe in Republican doctrines why vote for Parker? Why not go the 'whole hog or none' and vote for Roosevelt? By what right do the Democratic leaders undertake to preach and expound to the American people any economic questions? How do we know that they have mastered any of those questions?

"Never in the world could it emphasize itself on any issue as it did in the money question from 1896 to the year 1900. If all the writings and all of the speeches which they made against the Republican party on the money question were put into printed form and loaded for transportation upon the backs of camels, the caravan would stretch from one end to the other of the great Sahara desert. Did they understand the money question? If not, how do we know that they understand the money question? In their campaign book of 1896 the Democratic leaders say: 'We are unalterably opposed to monometalism.'

"Do the Democratic leaders suppose for one moment that the voter in this country are going to forget the history of the past eight years? Do they imagine for a moment that when they stand in the attitude of confessing so colossal a blunder as they made upon the money question they are going to be trusted on any other question? I again ask, did they know what they were talking about during those eight years, or were they simply deceiving the American people?

"The campaign has hardly been opened before the standard bearer of Democracy commences his retreat. Therefore, the great tariff question may be considered as 'waived,' just as the great money question is 'waived.'

"Let us see what else the national Democratic party presents as an issue. In their platform they declare that further legislation is needed against the trusts. But their candidate, in his speech of acceptance, says that we have as much law as we need.

"And as further proof that the Democratic platform will never cause any loss of sleep to the Havemeyers, the Rockefellers, you have only to remember that in 1892 they denounced the trusts and protective tariff in language equally as strong as that used in the platform of 1904; and when we construe the meaning of the platform of '92 in the light of the admitted infamy of Cleveland's second administration, with its well-remembered surrender to the Sugar Trust, the patriotic citizen might heartily exclaim, 'God deliver us from another redemption of Democratic pledges on the subject of the tariff and trusts.'

"Let us presume that Judge Parker, against whose character I would not venture to say a word, for I believe him to be an eminently worthy man—let us presume, I say, that Judge Parker, as the champion and representative of the great Democratic party, has the courage of his convictions. If we do presume this, his failure to state wherein he would make any change in the policy which the Republicans are pursuing in the Philippines is the most significant bit of silence in all of the various and interesting bits of silence to be found in Judge Parker's remarkable speech of acceptance.

"Are the two platforms almost identical? Certainly they are. Boiled down to its real essence, sifted to its real meaning, the Democratic campaign of 1904 is a mere unscrupulous hunt for office. They have no fixed and certain creed. They have no articles of faith by which Democratic loyalty can be tested. A party, like an individual, should seek to build up character. And without convictions there can be no character.

"Stealing the platform of the people's party in 1896; stealing that of the Republicans in 1904, how can Democratic leaders now pretend to lead a party based upon convictions?

"I cannot see in the management of the National Democratic party anything on earth except an effort to find out which is the best bait to put on the hook. It is merely a question of catching a voter, and winning the office.

"You may ask why do I consume more time discussing the Democrats than in speaking of the Republicans. My reply is: It's an easier and quicker job to strike an open enemy right between the eyes than it is to tear off the mask from the face of a pretended friend and show him to be the hypocrite that he is."

A Jealous Ape.

Sir Henry Johnson, the English explorer, once traveled on a ship with a pet ape. It was a great favorite with all the passengers until there came aboard at Madeira a lady with an infant. The latter received a good deal of attention and the ape in consequence became neglected and jealous. Sir Harry Johnston followed it on deck one day just in time to prevent a tragedy. The child had been left unguarded for a moment in its cradle. The ape had made for it, pulled it from the cradle and was in the act of throwing it overboard when the traveler pounced upon it. Says Sir Harry, "It would certainly have hauled it into the sea had not my arrival caused the guilty ape to drop the child on the deck and scramble away." The ape was relegated to a strong iron cage for the rest of that voyage.

The First Will Ever Written.

The father of all the wills and the most ancient document of its kind known to the historians and antiquarians is that of "the great king," Sennacherib, who is frequently mentioned in the Scriptures and a so to Herodotus and Josephus. Sennacherib lived and reigned between the years 702 and 680 B. C., over 250 years ago. In the will, which is written upon a tablet of clay, and which was found by the excavators which were exploring the site of the royal palace, the "great invincible" wills his sons "certain stores of precious things" at that time deposited in the temple of Nebo. These same sons afterward killed their father "while he was engaged in worshiping his private god."

The Fan in Egypt.

In Egypt the fan was not only an emblem of royalty, but also of happiness and heavenly rest. The oldest Egyptian fan now extant is preserved in the museum of Bulak and is said to have belonged to the Queen Ash-Hotep and is consequently nearly thirty-five centuries old. The crown and wooden handle of this curiosity are covered with thin plates of gold, and all around the former at equal intervals are small holes, in which the nodding ostrich plumes were once inserted.

A long handled screen fan is represented in the triumph of King Horns (1400 B. C.), and the wall paintings at Medinet Habon show that Rameses was attended by twenty-three princes, each bearing an elegant screen fan and rejoicing in the sounding title of "fan bearer on the left hand of the king." STILL A SECRET.

What the Sage of Esopus Really Believes Remains a Mystery.

What Judge Parker would do or attempt to do if he were to be elected President, is little less an unknown quantity than it was before his speech of acceptance was given to the world. He would recognize the gold standard and he repeats that he would regard it as firmly and irrevocable established, but this was known before he added the second word. He thinks he would like to have a reduction of the tariff, but he is not sufficiently sure of this to intimate what degree of reduction he would have upon any one item on which he would have the tariff duty changed in any way.

And the few explicit statements he does make emphasize the wisdom he manifests in what he fails to say. When he redeclares his belief that the gold standard is "firmly and irrevocable established" for instance, he shows that he is ignorant of a fact that exists in the mind of most voters at this stage and proceedings. Almost everybody else by this knows that the gold standard lacks a good deal of being irrevocably established, and even he would be convinced of it if once he were called upon to deal with it.

So also he suggests that he would fix a time to haul down the flag in the Philippines, but he gives no hint of the year or the month or the time of day. On most things that he touched he leaves the reader to infer almost anything that he would like to infer, especially if the reader is seeking an excuse for a vote against the administration, but explicit statements in his speech of acceptance are almost as rare as in the silence that has prevailed for so long at Esopus.

In another explicit statement that he makes he shows his wisdom in avoiding such things as much as possible. For instance, he says that the tariff furnishes the trusts a market in the necessities of eighty million people, "practically excluding competition." On the same day that this speech was delivered came the announcement that an independent concern had taken away from the trust an order for 1,000 tons of steel plates.

The record shows that while what is known as the steel trust began business with the control of about eighty percent of the total output in two years this had been reduced to fifty percent or less, due solely to competition here at home under this same protective tariff. The salt trust undertook to do business on the assumption expressed by this Presidential candidate the competition soon forced it to reorganize and pursue its business on the assumption that it would have the liveliest sort—and even ruinous—the competition if it attempted to maintain extortiorate prices. About two years ago the prude trust had the same experience. On window glass the duty always has been high. It is so now; it was so under the Wilson-Gorman bill and under the McKinley law and so on. Yet the combination known as the window glass trust has not been free from competition for years, and this competition has been of the keenest sort. Trust after trust has failed because it attempted to do business on an assumption similar to the one offered as statesmanship from this man at Esopus. Every one of them that has attempted this has failed or been forced into the courts for reorganization on a different basis. If this man is fit to be a candidate for anything he knows this. Even casual attention to what has been going on in the courts of the land would have revealed this vital fact.

The Stomach is the Man.
A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, cleanses and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

Big Enterprises Cost Money.

Senator Davis, taking his cue from the New York World and other Democratic papers, made the attempt to show that the administration of President Roosevelt had been extravagant in the extreme and that our expenditures per capita were greater than at any previous period.

It is true that Mr. Davis did present a table showing that our present per capita expenditures are greater than at certain previous years which he used in comparison. It would be very easy, however, to select other years, and many of them, too, in which our per capita expenditures largely exceeded those of the past year under President Roosevelt. It must be remembered, however, that the Executive does not make the appropriations. They are made by Congress, and the Executive has no alternative but to carry out the laws as enacted, whether they be extravagant or otherwise. The fact is, however, that all things considered, our present expenditures are exceedingly moderate.

Without discussing the question of imperialism, we have on our hands the Philippines, which must be guarded and protected at whatever cost. We rank among the foremost nations of the earth, and every loyal patriot is desirous that our navy should be of such proportions as to carry with it peace, because we are prepared for war.

The inauguration of the Panama Canal, towards which we have already appropriated fifty millions of dollars, is another expenditure that no royal American regrets. Our rural free delivery service, for which the last year we appropriated over twenty millions of dollars, is another additional expense not known to previous administrations.

Large responsibilities carry with them large expenditures, but it may be added that the American people are not being taxed to-day at any greater rate per capita than has been the case for many years and during many decades of our previous history.

Sour Stomach.
When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quantity too rich sour stomach is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of early digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let five hours elapse between meals and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the sour stomach may be avoided. For sale by all druggists.

Needed an Examination.

Representative Bourke Cockran was seated in law office one day recently when one of the clerks announced a visitor. The orator was very busy, but the man refused to tell his business to a clerk, insisted that it was a personal matter and he must see Mr. Cockran himself.

"Well, show him in," said the lawyer finally in disgust.

"I want to get some legal advice, Mr. Cockran," said the visitor, "and I came to you because I am a poor man and cannot afford to pay a real lawyer."

"What do you mean?" thundered the Representative indignantly.

"Well, I mean that as a politician you will not be hard on one of your constituent. Besides, I have another claim on you. My aunt does washing for one of your cousins."

"My dear sir," said the lawyer in his most withering tones as he ushered the visitor out, "you don't want to see a lawyer. You want to see a nerve specialist."

What's in a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co. of Chicago, discovered some years ago how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases, DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

Force of Habit.

Speaking of force of habit, some years ago there was an iron railing around the capitol grounds at Washington. The appropriation bill provided for a watchman to close and lock the gates every night at a certain hour and open them at a certain hour every morning. In the course of time the railing or fence was removed but the gates swung between their Egyptian pillars for a long time, and all that time the watchman came and went regularly, closing and opening the gates according to law and drawing his salary.

When troubled with constipation try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are easy to take and produce no griping or other unpleasant effect. For sale by all druggists.

The Love of Eating.

IS THE AMERICAN BECOMING A GOURMAND?

In our largest centers of population, such as New York and Chicago, we daily see more attention given to the inner man.

Cafes and luncheon-rooms are filled with men and women who seem to give all their time and attention to thoughts of properly or improperly feeding their stomachs. "It is of course best to eat slowly, but not too much," says Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. In this 20th century people devote so much time to head work that their brain is fagged and there isn't sufficient blood left to properly take care of the other organs of the body.

The stomach must be assisted in its hard work—the liver started into action—by the use of a good stomach tonic, which should be entirely of vegetable ingredients and without alcohol. After years of experience in an active practice, Dr. Pierce discovered a remedy that suited the conditions in a blood-drinker and the like. He called it Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—an alternative extract that assists in the digestion and assimilation of the food in the stomach—that the blood gets what it needs for food and oxidation, the liver is at the same time started into activity and there is perfect elimination of waste matter. When the blood is pure and rich, all the organs work without effort, and the body is like a perfect machine.

College Girl's Fad.

Of course every college girl uses her college seal and her society emblems as belt buckles, cuff links, shirtwaist studs and scarf pins, but it has remained for the 1904 college girl to originate the idea of decorating her bathing suit with college buttons. The buttons are enamel and it is not absolutely necessary that she use entirely buttons emblematic of her own college, for, being a college girl, it goes without saying that for reasons all her own she may wear the Yale or Harvard button.

Sweet Milk.

[Medical Talk.]

Sweet milk that is over twenty-four hours old is not fit for food. Until the milk passes through fermentation, and forms what is known as butter milk, or sour whey, old milk is really unfit for food. The practice of delivering milk in the cities at such times as that the consumer of the milk shall not use it until it is twenty-four hours old, is a very bad practice, and is undoubtedly the cause of much of the sickness during the hot months.

Milk should be used the same day it is milked from the cow. The sooner the better. Just as quickly as the animal heat is taken out of it, by proper stirring and cooling, is the time when it is the most palatable and nutritious. Those who like milk warm from the cow, and can obtain it in that state, should use it in preference to any other. But milk used for ordinary purposes had better be cooled and aerated, if possible, and used the same day it is taken from the cow.

Even though the milk is kept from souring, after it is more than twenty-four hours old it is unfit for food, and should never be used, especially as food for infants.

WE DON'T hear much said about free silver now.

THE Democratic party now admits that its free silver craze of recent years was only a catch phrase used as a vote getter.

RUSSIA made a solemn pledge to evacuate Manchuria on September 8, 1903, and now she is being soundly whipped for lying about it.

TOM TAGGART as the chauffeur of the Democratic locomobile has good reason to complain of the gravel thrown into his eyes by the wheels of his own machine.

VERMONT has again fallen in line by giving an increased Republican majority. Charles J. Bell was elected Governor over his Democratic opponent by a plurality of 32,000 votes.

NEWS has reached Che Fo by a Chinese junk that Arkansas has gone Democratic, and that one J. Davis will have dominion over the frogs and mosquitoes down in the land of swamps and bogs for two years more.

FOR practical results of the "tariff for revenue only" policy of Democracy note Grover Cleveland's last term. The country was provided with free trade, free soup and free financial disasters of all kinds. Parker and the Hartford Herald favor the same policy now.

KENTUCKY free silverites cannot exactly locate themselves. Not even Governor Beckham nor Ollie James has made a footprint on the soil of Esopus where the home of Candidate Parker is. It is reported that free silver produces an offensive odor to the Rosemont candidate.

IT WAS not uncommon during Bryan's first campaign to hear leading Democrats say that a protective tariff was the right policy of government. Now they call it the robber tariff. They have proven themselves to be almost as consistent about the tariff as about the money question.

THE man who followed Bryan through two campaigns believing in his views on the financial question, and is now following Parker, and by so doing indorsing his views on the financial question is a docile and cheerful victim who could be persuaded to pull off his shoes and stockings, and wade over Niagara Falls.

THERE seems to be a great dearth of the "16 to 1 or bust" editorials in the Democratic newspapers over the country. Will some one of these papers, which, eight and four years ago, predicted that the country would fall in a great heap of chaotic desolation unless it debased its currency, kindly inform a waiting public why this change in sentiment has come about?

IN 1896 and 1900 Democrats were positive that the thing the country needed was free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Time has proven the fallacy of such a craze. Now they take up their time-ridden doctrine "of tariff for revenue only" which has been handed down to them from remote ancestry and advance it as the savior of mankind. We were favored with "tariff for revenue only" and free soup during Cleveland's last administration. A return to such conditions is the inevitable result if Democrats are again given the control of the government.

GUESSES, PROMISES AND FACTS.

It is one of the necessary conditions of a government by political parties that the minority must appeal for support on the strength of the promises they make as to their course in the event that they are endorsed at the polls. The Democrats have had no opportunity, since soup-house Cleveland's term, to assume responsibility for important legislation, and they come before the people asking to be given power—but on what grounds? Promises? No. They made promises and prophesies in 1896 and 1900 with what results we are all familiar.

Whatever may be the convictions of the leaders, they are studiously concealed.

Neither the platform nor Parker's speech of acceptance has outlined any definite policy or made specific promises.

The St. Louis convention started a great guessing contest. No man can affirm where Democracy stands on any of the great questions now before the people for solution. They are not free traders, and yet they compare the tariff to a burglar's kit. If they are accused of indorsing the gold standard they clamor vociferously but say nothing. They vituperate President Roosevelt for clearing the way for the construction of the Panama Canal, yet they say it should be built. Where are they anyhow? The only certain, positive and fixed feature of the situation is that they are out of office and would be all things to all men in order to get in. They forget that the road to confidence and preferment is a strait and narrow path, and a clear cut proposition that engages the attention of the thoughtful voter.

VERMONT has again fallen in line by giving an increased Republican majority. Charles J. Bell was elected Governor over his Democratic opponent by a plurality of 32,000 votes.

NEWS has reached Che Fo by a Chinese junk that Arkansas has gone Democratic, and that one J. Davis will have dominion over the frogs and mosquitoes down in the land of swamps and bogs for two years more.

FOR practical results of the "tariff for revenue only" policy of Democracy note Grover Cleveland's last term. The country was provided with free trade, free soup and free financial disasters of all kinds. Parker and the Hartford Herald favor the same policy now.

KENTUCKY free silverites cannot exactly locate themselves. Not even Governor Beckham nor Ollie James has made a footprint on the soil of Esopus where the home of Candidate Parker is. It is reported that free silver produces an offensive odor to the Rosemont candidate.

IT WAS not uncommon during Bryan's first campaign to hear leading Democrats say that a protective tariff was the right policy of government. Now they call it the robber tariff. They have proven themselves to be almost as consistent about the tariff as about the money question.

THE man who followed Bryan through two campaigns believing in his views on the financial question, and is now following Parker, and by so doing indorsing his views on the financial question is a docile and cheerful victim who could be persuaded to pull off his shoes and stockings, and wade over Niagara Falls.

THERE seems to be a great dearth

of the "16 to 1 or bust" editorials in the Democratic newspapers over the country. Will some one of these papers, which, eight and four years ago, predicted that the country would fall in a great heap of chaotic desolation unless it debased its currency, kindly inform a waiting public why this change in sentiment has come about?

IN 1896 and 1900 Democrats were positive that the thing the country needed was free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Time has proven the fallacy of such a craze. Now they take up their time-ridden doctrine "of tariff for revenue only" which has been handed down to them from remote ancestry and advance it as the savior of mankind. We were favored with "tariff for revenue only" and free soup during Cleveland's last administration. A return to such conditions is the inevitable result if Democrats are again given the control of the government.

The St. Louis convention started a great guessing contest. No man can affirm where Democracy stands on any of the great questions now before the people for solution. They are not free traders, and yet they compare the tariff to a burglar's kit. If they are accused of indorsing the gold standard they clamor vociferously but say nothing. They vituperate President Roosevelt for clearing the way for the construction of the Panama Canal, yet they say it should be built. Where are they anyhow? The only certain, positive and fixed feature of the situation is that they are out of office and would be all things to all men in order to get in. They forget that the road to confidence and preferment is a strait and narrow path, and a clear cut proposition that engages the attention of the thoughtful voter.

THE Democratic party now admits that its free silver craze of recent years was only a catch phrase used as a vote getter.

RUSSIA made a solemn pledge to evacuate Manchuria on September 8, 1903, and now she is being soundly whipped for lying about it.

TOM TAGGART as the chauffeur of the Democratic locomobile has good reason to complain of the gravel thrown into his eyes by the wheels of his own machine.

TOO AFFECTIONATE MAN.

Is an Overdose of Love on the Husband's Part Equivalent to Cruelty?

[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

Divorce courts have produced many strange causes for marital separations, but we venture to say that the most astonishing one on record is that of the woman who wants the bonds severed because her husband since marriage has gratified her every wish. She cannot consent to live with such a man, and the courts are asked to give her a chance to marry a man who may be expected to fight at the drop of the hat.

The astonishing thing about this is not the fact, but the admission of the woman. It seems certain to the unprejudiced man who has followed the course of divorce cases for many years that the same reason underlies all such applications, but it has not been generally expressed. We leave it to husbands, even to those who are under fire, if they will not state with an unprejudiced mind that every wish of their wives has been granted, that nothing has been done from the beginning except to let them have their own way. It would be absurd to suppose that a man would beat his wife, or otherwise abuse her, after having taken the most solemn obligations to the contrary. Men are too good to their wives and suffer accordingly.

A recent sociologist of distinction wrote a book on the subject: "Why are divorces so much more common now than formerly?" He failed to mention the fact that women now get everything they want, while the husband is not permitted to use even moral suasion to protect his own interests. Has it ever struck this man that the divorce problem came up at the very time when the husbands gave up beating their wives? It used to be that a man who married a woman had a perpetual ownership in her. He secured her under contract as he did a horse or dog, and when things did not go right he administered the corrective lash—always, mind you, in a thoroughly Christian spirit and for the good of the punished. It hurt him much more to beat his wife than to take a licking himself, but he did it in a spirit of self-abnegation, which had most admirable results.

In these days when a man cannot knock his wife down without unfavorable comment, it is natural that there is a laxity of discipline in the home, and divorces are common. It would appear that the good old days are gone forever.

From 148 to 92 Pounds.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

Good Roads Lead to Matrimony.

[American Farmer.]

There are many arguments to show the advantages of good highways, but they are all of the intensely practical sort. Nobody ever thought of associating the sentimental with a road and so far as we know, neither poem nor romance has had for its theme the subject of road-making or road improving. It was left for a lecturer before a class at the Chicago University to bring out the fact that bad roads were an actual discouragement of matrimony and largely responsible for race suicide. The professor's argument is ingenious, if not convincing.

The majority of young men and women in the country do not marry, but come to the city because of the bad roads. The city, like the terrible minotaur of ancient Greece, swallows up the young men and the maidens of our country. All of which may be classed as highly interesting, if true. Heretofore, it has been generally understood that love, of all things, was not to be deterred by the absence of a road. If there is not a way, it makes one. If there is a mountain between, it climbs it; if a river it is swum. Is there an instance on record where a lovesick youth has been deterred from reaching the object of his passion simply because there was no highway or even path over which he might travel. If love laughs even at locksmiths and will break prison bars to get together, is it to be supposed that the absence of roads or the badness thereof would act as a permanent impediment. We fear this uneasy professor is not well acquainted with the country. If he was he would scarcely say that the boys and girls of the rural districts fail to marry on account of lack of easy means of transportation. On the contrary they have a wonderful facility in getting together. If there is a batch of pretty girls on top of the mountain, with nothing better than a trail path leading thereto, depend upon it the boys will find them. Did not Leander swim the broad Hellespont to get to his hero? Did not "the man that shot Sandee McGee," in Bret Harte's poem, have the raging torrent in order to dance with "Old Folks' daughter, the pride of Poverty Flat?"

It is true that good roads help some and far be it from us to throw any discouragement either in the way of matrimony or smooth highways. Good roads facilitate buggy riding, and it is well known that nothing is so conducive to courtship as a tete-a-tete ride in a smooth running buggy. But there was lots of marrying before roads of any kind were in existence and courting galore before buggies or other wheeled vehicles were heard of. Unless all the poets and philosophers are wrong, love actually delights in obstacles and is never so happy as when cutting across lots to accomplish a union. Does not Beatrice tell us that "the course of true love never did run smooth," and are there not millions of stories to prove that "love will find a way" whether there is a road or path in a hundred miles of the place. If it were really true that men and women could not marry without good roads, depend upon it that good roads would soon be abundant in every neighborhood. But it remains to be proven that any marriage was yet prevented or any lovers kept long apart, when no greater obstacle intervened than the lack of macadamized roads or smooth-running highways.

A Power For Good.

The Pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel, blue mass or any other pill I ever took and at the same time the effect was pleasant. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

Respect for Ages in Japan.

[Eleanor Franklin's Yokohama Letter in Leslie's Weekly.]

In Japan there is no such thing as disrespect from youth to age. No

Japanese boy or girl could ever think in a light or disrespectful manner of his or her superior or teachers, and this may account for the earnestness so unusual among young children.

When a student enters a master's presence in Japan he bows to the floor, and when the lesson is finished he bows again, with expressions of the deepest gratitude as he takes his departure. The teacher, sitting, in most cases, upon his feet on the floor, gravely returns each salutation, then lights his little pipe at the inevitable bit of a smoking box, and waits for his next class. There is no hurrying of masters from room to room as in some of the schools in our own enlightened land. Great imitators as they are, the Japanese are remarkable for knowing instinctively those "for-ign" customs which would not coincide with their national characteristics.

Out of the Question.

Between now and the 8th of November the Democratic party would like to be considered as sane and reasonable in its intentions regarding the revision of the Tariff. How sane and how reasonable would a Democratic Government be that was elected on a platform which denounces Protection as robbery? About as sane and reasonable as W. J. Bryan would be if he had the controlling voice in determining whether or not the single gold standard should be maintained. The truth is, the Democratic party does not know how to be sane and reasonable on any vital question. It is out the water of the coast of China and Japan, Southern France and Bulgaria furnish us with rose-oil, and from Southern Europe come such products as are derived from the orange and lemon.

The flower garden of the world, which is that part of France situated south of the maritime range of the Alps, produces a large portion of that oil which is so essential to the making of perfumes—attar of rose. As no rain falls here from March to September, the climate is admirably adapted to the industry. For miles and miles nothing can be seen except roses.

About 7,000 plants are required to each acre in the rose gardens, and these yield about 50,000 pounds of roses. The gardeners require a sunny slope and much irrigation. The bushes are cut down to the ground each year and the plants attain an enormous age. The flowers are picked each morning while the dew is on them that they retain their perfume. They are taken to the factories in great baskets where they are dumped into big copper stills, which holds half a barrel of water each. Then comes the distilling process, which results in rose water. The rose water is itself distilled. On top of the fluid which arises from this process float oily drops which are worth more than their weight in gold.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver and Kidney as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nerve and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rhumatism and Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro., Druggist.

Surprised the Governess.

Here is a good story about Empress William which is now going the round of the German papers.

During his childhood he was in charge of a conscientious but rather stern governess, and one day he and his little brother misbehaved themselves and she found it necessary to chastise them in the old orthodox fashion. When her task was finished she sat down and, turning to William, who was looking quite surly at her, said:

"I can assure you, your royal highness, that I suffer quite as much as you do whenever I punish you."

To which the future Emperor quickly replied: "That may be, madam, but you don't suffer in the same place."

Deafness Cannot be Cured By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is cured by inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine case out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We have given away One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

[Great Pauls (Mont.) "Leader."]

Every man wants to do the best he may for his country. Do you think it best for your country at this time to try an experiment that has failed in Great Britain, that has been discarded by nearly all the great European powers and that proved such a dismal failure when practiced, even to a small extent, by the United States?

It is for you to decide now. If you make a mistake you will have to bear the burden, you will have to shoulder the responsibility. You are certain that under the policy inaugurated by the Republican party the country has prospered, but you are doubtful what the inauguration of Democratic policies might bring you.

It is your duty, therefore, to let well enough alone, to refuse to try experiments and such theories unless it is plainly shown to you that such experiments and such theories are more likely to result in benefits now than they were when tried before?

The Republican party points to success. The Democratic party can only point to a succession of failures. Which party will you ally yourself with?

Illinois Central Railroad Co.

Notice to Stockholders.

Public notice is hereby given that the regular annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Illinois Central Railroad Company will be held at the Company's office in Chicago, Ill., on Wednesday, October 19, 1904, at twelve o'clock noon.

To permit personal attendance at said meeting there will be issued to each holder of one or more shares of the capital stock of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, as registered on the books of the company at the close of business on Tuesday, September 27, 1904, who is of full age, a ticket enabling him, or her, to travel free over the Company's lines from the station on the Illinois Central Railroad nearest to his or her registered address to Chicago and return, such ticket to be good for the journey to Chicago only during the four days immediately preceding and the day of the meeting, and for the return journey from Chicago only on the day of the meeting, and the four days immediately following, when properly countersigned and stamped during business hours—that is to say, between 9:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m.—in the office of the Assistant Secretary, Mr. W. G. Bruen, in Chicago. Such ticket may be obtained by any holder of stock, registered as above, on application, in writing to the President of the Company in Chicago. Each application must state the full name and address of the Stockholder exactly as given in his or her Certificate of Stock, together with the number and date of such certificate. No more than one person will be carried free in respect to any one holder of stock as registered on the books of the Company.

Scores of poems set to familiar airs drift into the Republican national and state headquarters these days. Recently the mail brought a verse which the writer says should be sung to "Hail Columbia." It is as follows: R—aise your banners, hail the chief O—ur country, great and glorious; O—ur party, long victorious; S—trenuous always—pressing onward E—ven watchful—looking forward. V—ote for him who is truly leading, E—arrest all good causes pleading, L—et our nation come to grief, T—rust in him—our faithful chief.

The Tariff Helps the Farmer.

Year after year since the inauguration of William McKinley and the accession of his successor, Theodore Roosevelt, and during the continued operation of our present protective tariff the farm products of the country without regard to the quantity harvested have netted the farmer more than a billion dollars in excess of the value received during the operation of the Wilson-Gorman tariff law under the administration of Grover Cleveland.

This by no means, however, measures the increased value to our farmers, as another billion dollars must be added as the increased value of farm animals.

It is not likely that the farmers either West or

East, North or South, care to change existent conditions and go back to the low values and to the cheap marks ets of 1894, 1895 and 1896.

Wakeful?

Sleeplessness Is a Sign of Nerve Trouble and Should Be Looked To.

There are three different manifestations of sleeplessness.

First, hardly to sleep a wink all night, second, to lie awake a long time before falling asleep; third, to fall asleep soon, waking up after several hours and then find it hard to sleep again.

They mean that somewhere in the nerve fibres, somewhere in the brain cells, somewhere in the blood vessels that carry blood to the brain, something is radically wrong, and must be righted, or the end may be worse than death.

To right it, take Dr. Miles' Nervine.

Some other symptoms of nerve trouble are: Dizziness, Headache, Backache, Worry, Fretfulness, Irritability, Melancholy, Lack of Ambition.

They indicate diseases which may lead to Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Prostration, Paralysis, Insanity.

Nothing will give such quick and lasting relief as Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"My husband had been sick for weeks, could not sit up to have his bed made. With all the medical help we could get he continued to grow worse. He could neither sleep or eat. Our baby girl was sent away and all callers were few, and came to comfort us, but bit by bit talking, I read of a case of nervous prostration cured by Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. We began giving it to him, and in a few days he was able to be dressed. From that time he steadily improved. Nervine saved his life."

Petition for Local Option Election at McHenry, Ky.

Wm. Pollock, Henry Newton, Wm. Fulser, Jas. Penman, Tom Engler, Pete Taylor, Will Newton, G. R. Cannon, Jas. Givens, Alva Thomas, Ed Maddox, Jack Dempsey, Everett Sisk, Duncan Penman, Jas. Espy, John Briggs, Joe Day, Wm. Maddox, Roland Her, Palos Hawes, E. A. Nordland, Eugene Chinn, Dick Tani, Frank Penman, Perry Render, Alves Hawes, Vig Hocker, Monroe Littlefield, Sam Hawes, Everett Hawes, Elvis Rogers, Henry Smith, Gilbert Taylor, Tom Harland, Wm. Phelps, Oscar Brown, Tom Render, Jeff Davis, Will Wilkes and Finly Park, having by an order of this Court duly made at its last regular July term, 1904, held next before this, filed their written petition signed by each and all of them praying for local option election in and for the town of McHenry, Ky., on Thursday, September 15th 1904, which said petition was and is signed by said parties, it is now adjudged that said petition was and is signed by said petitioners whose names appear thereto and that same are legal and qualified voters of said town, qualified to vote for county officers and are in number equal to more than 25 per cent of such voters voting at the last town election for said town, and that each one of said petitioners are over 21 years of age and have resided in the State of Kentucky more than one year, in the county of Ohio more than six months and in the town of McHenry more than sixty days before the filing of said petition and they and each of them are qualified to vote at an election for county officers.

It is therefore ordered and adjudged by the court, the court being sufficiently advised, that an election be held in and for said town of McHenry on Thursday, the 22nd day of September, 1904, for the purpose of taking the sense of legal qualified voters of said town who are qualified to vote for county officers upon the question whether or not spirituous, vinous and malt liquors shall be sold, bartered, or loaned in said town and whether or not the law now in force prohibiting the sale, barter and loan of and traffic in such liquors in said town shall become inoperative in the said town of McHenry. The petitioners this day deposited with J. P. Miller, county judge, the sum of thirty five dollars, which sum is adjudged sufficient to pay costs of advertising, printing, ballots and officers for holding election.

Cal P. Keown, the regular elected, qualified and acting sheriff of Ohio county, is appointed to hold said election for which purpose he is ordered and directed to open a poll at the voting places in said town for holding municipal elections and he will advertise said election as required by law.

M. S. Ragland, the regular elected, qualified and acting clerk of Ohio county is ordered and directed to prepare and furnish poll books and ballots for said election as required by law and this cause is continued.

M. S. RAGLAND, Clerk.

By U. G. RAGLAND, D. C.

NOTICE.

Pursuant to foregoing order and judgment of the Ohio County Court, I will, on Thursday September the 22nd, 1904, cause a poll to be opened as and in the manner required by law at each and all of the voting places in the town of McHenry, Ohio county, Kentucky, to take the sense of the legal voters of said town, qualified to vote for county officers, upon the proposition "Whether or not spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold, bartered, loaned or trafficked in the said town of McHenry, Ohio county, Ky., or whether or not the law now in force in Ohio county Kentucky, prohibiting the sale, barter, loan of and traffic in such liquors shall become inoperative in the said town of McHenry, Ohio county Kentucky?" Given under my hand as Sheriff of Ohio county, Kentucky, this the 6th day of September 1904.

Election to regulate stock running at large.

It appearing to the satisfaction of the court that the Fiscal court of Ohio county by a majority of its members, has heretofore decided that elections to regulate the running of stock at large in Ohio county shall be confined to voting precincts in said county. And it further appearing that G. W. Gordon and twenty-one other legal voters of Cromwell voting precinct have filed their petition praying an election to be held in said voting precinct at the regular election November 8, 1904, for the purpose of taking the sense of the legal voters in said precinct as to whether or not hogs shall be permitted to run at large in said precinct, and it further appearing that Rowan Holbrook and nineteen other legal voters of West Hartford voting precinct and W. M. Kirtley and thirty eight other legal voters of Point Pleasant voting precinct have filed their petitions praying that an election be held in their respective voting precincts at the regular election November 8, 1904, for the purpose of taking the sense of the legal voters in each of said precincts as to whether or not cattle generally shall be permitted to run at large in said precincts or any of them, and it appearing that said petitioners have deposited with the Ohio County Court the sum of $5.00 to defray the expense of the election in each precinct, it is therefore ordered and adjudged that said question be submitted to the voters of said precincts at said time and the officers of election in each of the precincts herein named are hereby directed to open a poll at each and all of the voting places in said precincts in Ohio County, Ky., for the purpose of ascertaining the will of the voters upon the question whether or not they shall permit cattle generally to run at large in respective voting precincts.

Notice of the submission of this question shall be published at least twenty days before the said election in at least four issues of a paper publishing in said county having the largest bona fide circulation in Ohio County. And the County Clerk is ordered and directed to have printed on the ballots for each of said precincts the question "For or against the running at large of cattle in —— precinct, Ohio County, Kentucky," naming the precinct upon each poll book.
